11th International Forum on Ovarian Cancer

The HHMT's biennial international scientific meetings bring together some of the world's most distinguished researchers and clinicians to discuss recent advances in ovarian cancer research. Our 11th International Forum on Ovarian Cancer will take place at the Villa D'Este, Lake Como, Italy from 25-28 March 2007.

Juniors under 35 years of age with a research interest in ovarian cancer are invited to apply for:

Travelling Fellowships

Six junior scientists, to be selected by peer review, are invited to present their latest work in any aspect of basic science or clinical research related to ovarian cancer. A prize will be awarded for the best contribution. Please submit:

-  A 500 word abstract describing the background, methodology and results of your original research.
-  A brief curriculum vitae.

Observer Fellowships

These fellowships offer selected junior scientists the chance to broaden their knowledge and develop their careers by attending the forum. Please submit:

-  An abstract of your work.
-  A short paragraph describing how the forum could benefit you.
-  A brief curriculum vitae.

Travel and accommodation will be financed by HHMT. You must attend the entire forum.

Applications must be received by 30 September 2006.
Results will be notified in November 2006.

Please send applications to Karen Lush, email karen@hhmt.org
